

SUBSIDY MAKES SENSE

A description of the present plight of music and the musicians in the United States and a look at Federal Subsidy as a means of improving the situation.

By Hope Stoddard

Associate Editor

International Musician

The American Federation of Musicians, in its campaign for Federal subsidy of music, has published a series of articles in its journal, "International Musician," explaining the need for speedy action in this matter. These articles are herewith reprinted, together with a final chapter on industry's aid to music, in itself a form of subsidy.