

Mr. NEW. That is what we would plan to do, yes.

Mr. HÉBERT. The next contract.

Mr. SANDWEG. Next we have two contracts, both with the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Inc., basic research contracts, Nos. DA 36-039-SC-74980, and DA-36-039 SC-74910.

(The contract data not read is as follows:)

INFORMATION RELATIVE TO CONTRACTS FOR BASIC RESEARCH, MANAGEMENT SERVICES, FEASIBILITY STUDIES AND OTHER "EFFORT TYPE" CONTRACTS

1. Type of effort: Basic research.
2. Contractor's name and address: Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Inc., 4455 Genesee Street, Buffalo, N.Y.
3. Contract No.: DA 36-039 SC-74980.
4. Date of award: Basic contract was awarded prior to July 1, 1958. Subsequent modifications for extensions were awarded on April 15, 1959, and September 28, 1960.
5. Cost of contract: $3,106,244.
6. Estimated completion date: December 31, 1961.
7. Subject matter: Study and evaluation of combat surveillance systems.
8. Recommendations or suggestions: Under this contract the contractor is required to prepare recommendations to the U.S. Army Combat Surveillance Agency for providing an improved combat surveillance capability, performing additional studies, investigation and evaluation, as necessary. Eleven formal reports have been submitted by contractor, containing hundreds of technical recommendations.
9. Were recommendations accepted or rejected and why: A great majority of the recommendations have been accepted and the contractor's recommendation constitutes the principal recommendation for the current combat surveillance midrange program.

INFORMATION RELATIVE TO CONTRACTS FOR BASIC RESEARCH, MANAGEMENT SERVICES, FEASIBILITY STUDIES, AND OTHER EFFORT TYPE CONTRACTS

1. Type of effort: Basic research.
2. Contractor's name and address: Cornell Aeronautical Labs, Inc., 4435 Genesee Street, Buffalo, N.Y.
3. Contract No.: DA-36-039 SC-74910.
4. Date of award: Basic contract was awarded prior to July 1, 1958. Subsequent extensions were awarded on August 1, 1958, February 27, 1959, September 29, 1959, and June 29, 1960.
5. Cost of contract: $1,572,695.
6. Estimated completion date: November 30, 1966.
7. Subject matter: Research investigation and analysis culminating in the development of overall military plans and future technological requirements for reconnaissance airborne drone system.
8. Recommendations or suggestions: Many valuable recommendations have been received as a result of this research investigation.
9. Were recommendations accepted or rejected and why: Recommendations have been and still are being used as a basis for much of the Signal Corps research and development activity in the area of airborne drone surveillance reconnaissance systems.

Mr. SANDWEG. The contracts are in the total amount of about $4.6 million, and basically the subject matter is to study and evaluate combat surveillance systems. Recommendations or suggestions under this contract: The contractor is required to prepare recommendations to the U.S. Army Combat Surveillance Agency for providing an improved combat surveillance capability, performing additional studies, investigation and evaluation as necessary.

Eleven formal reports have been submitted by the contractor containing hundreds of technical recommendations.