

Article 34. The members of the technical aviation personnel must obtain licenses and certificates of qualification issued by the General Direction of Civil Aeronautics.

Article 35. The crew shall consist of all personnel that perform services on board an aircraft.

The flight personnel and auxiliary personnel aboard shall be members of the crew.

The flight personnel shall consist of those members of the crew that perform essential services for the operation of the aircraft.

The auxiliary personnel aboard shall be the members of the crew that attend not to the flight operations but to the passengers and other crew members.

Article 36. The Government shall determine by regulation the following subject matter:

- a) Categories of pilots;
- b) Requirements for aeronautical licenses and certificates of qualification;
- c) General conditions for the granting of licenses to the members of the crew and the ground personnel;
- d) General requirements of age, nationality and conduct, required to obtain aeronautical licenses;
- e) Conditions of qualifications, experience, physical aptitude, skill and examinations necessary to obtain them; and,
- f) Operation, conditions of renewal, validation, confirmation, suspension, or revocation of said licenses.

Article 37. Only Honduran technical aviation personnel shall be permitted to perform for pay any activities concerning national aeronautics in Honduras. Lacking of such personnel, the General Direction of Civil Aeronautics may permit foreign pilots or other members of the technical personnel to perform these activities, giving preference to the personnel of another country of the Central American Isthmus. In order that the General Direction of Civil Aeronautics may permit the performance of paid aeronautical activities by foreign personnel, it shall be necessary that they verify their possession of licenses or certificates of qualification in Honduras in conformity with this Law, and, in the absence thereof, that they possess valid certificates issued by a foreign country that grants reciprocal recognition to Honduran licenses or certificates. If such licenses or certificates fill the minimum requirements demanded by the regulations for this purpose in Honduras, the interested person shall submit to the tests and examinations that are required for the validation of such licenses and certificates.

Agricultural air services and private services for a remuneration shall be excepted from compliance with this provision and may be granted temporary authorizations referred to in Article 126.

CHAPTER VI. FLIGHT RULES

Article 38. All pilots in charge of an aircraft flying over national territory must have a knowledge of the laws and regulations that govern air navigation in the Republic and especially of the location of restricted and prohibited areas.

Article 39. All national or foreign aircraft performing a flight originating in a foreign country must land on an airport duly author-
