

33.

Sent Money Home

Over half of the dropouts sent money home

SEND ANY MONEY HOME

(Base: Total)

|                            | Total% | Age              |              |                     | In Job Corps               |            |                            |
|----------------------------|------------|------------------|--------------|---------------------|----------------------------|------------|----------------------------|
|                            |            | Under18% | 18 - 19% | 20 orolder% | Less Than3 months% | 3 - 6% | More Than6 months% |
| Sent money to mother       | 47         | 42               | 48           | 49                  | 33                         | 61         | 58                         |
| Sent money to father       | 4          | 6                | 5            | 3                   | 4                          | 6          | 4                          |
| Sent money to wife         | 1          | 1                | 1            | 2                   | 1                          | 1          | 1                          |
| Sent money to someone else | 5          | 4                | 5            | 5                   | 4                          | 5          | 5                          |
| Did not send money home    | 45         | 50               | 45           | 41                  | 61                         | 29         | 35                         |

* Adds to more than 100% as some respondents gave more than one answer.

The older the dropouts the greater the chance that they were sending money home, particularly to their mothers. Those who stayed in the Job Corps 3 months or more were much more likely to provide some money for the family than those who were in for less than three months.

Job Training In Center

The following table presents the job classifications this group was being trained for while in the Job Corps: