

2.

We have attached copies of all letters received as of this date (94). Others may continue to come in but this group represents a very high percentage of returns and we did not want to hold up this report. The letters are divided into five categories.

Those tabbed (1) express support for the program and total 54.

Those tabbed (2) are letters which indicate apprehension and a negative attitude prior to the establishment of the local Center, but now express support based on actual experience. These total 17. These 17 when added to the 54 tabbed (1) total 71 in support of the program out of the 94 received. The support is expressed because of the way the Centers have assisted the communities with volunteer projects; the attitude of the Corpsmen and staff; the impact on the local economy the Center has made and because both the Job Corps and the citizens of local communities are doing a better job of getting to know one another.

Tab (3) covers the only letter received which expresses strong opposition.

Tab (4) covers a total of five letters which did not state opposition but were generally negative in their comments.

The final group tabbed (5) cover a total of 17 which are either non committal, indicate the addressee is out of town and would answer at a later date, or indicate community is too far from the Center to permit objective answer.
