

Mr. CROOK. I am not at all sure; 86 percent of our present volunteers and programs are related to other OEO programs, many of them with Job Corps, Upward Bound, Headstart. We would be moving across agencies in order to get back our rapport with these projects.

Mr. DELLENBACK. Are most of your relations with them up through the director's office and back down into the program, or directly across into the other programs?

Mr. CROOK. They are at the local level.

Mr. DELLENBACK. Would it be your anticipation then that this would cripple you badly?

Mr. CROOK. Yes.

Mr. STEIGER. Would you yield?

Mr. DELLENBACK. I will yield.

Mr. STEIGER. It should be clearly understood that the basic thrust of the opportunity crusade would transfer all of those programs with which you are now working as a part of OEO into HEW so that we are not here talking about a single isolated transfer of simply VISTA which would then be at cross purposes. We are talking about a whole transfer so that the agency itself would remain perhaps very similar to what it is now, in terms of your operations in OEO.

Mr. CROOK. I don't even know how HEW feels about this. I am hardly in a position to give too much of an opinion, myself.

Mr. DELLENBACK. We are not asking you to go on record as favoring 10682 or accepting the basic concepts that are there involved. We are asking you what you visualize in the way of concrete impact.

Thank you.

Mr. SHRIVER. Mr. Scherle is not here any longer, but Mr. Chairman, I have in front of me the Omaha World Herald. Since whenever you talk about Job Corps and sex education, the two of them together are usually calculated to get somebody excited, I would like to just read from this newspaper report that Congressman Scherle gave me an excerpt from. It says here:

"Birth control pills may be given to Job Corps girls only if their own personal physician prescribes them. Pills can be given if the center's physician prescribes them for the girl's health. All matters relating to the girl's health in the Job Corps are delegated to physicians. The girls have the same doctor-patient relationship other persons who are not in the Job Corps have."

So I bring that out here to make it clear that what we are attempting to do in the area of sex education or with birth control pills or birth control information is no different for girls in the Job Corps than what those girls would be getting if they were not in the Job Corps, and had their own private physician to help them.

Normally these girls in the Job Corps don't have a private physician to help them but now they do have a private physician. What we are trying to provide to them is what other Americans are able to get who are not in the Job Corps. It is under the guidance of physicians. It is not as I thought might have been indicated by the previous reference.

Chairman PERKINS. Are there any further questions?

Let me take this opportunity, Sargent Shriver, to again thank you for a most outstanding appearance, in my judgment, and this includes
