

MR. ADAM YARMOLINSKY took his A.B. degree at Harvard and was graduated from the Yale Law School. He was a chief architect of the Kennedy Administration War Against Poverty and is a member of the Institute of Politics of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy School of Government at Harvard. He is a member of the Board of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences. He is a recipient of the Department of Defense Public Service Medal and served as Principal Deputy Assistant to the Secretary of Defense under Robert McNamara.

DR. PETER H. ROSSI, Chairman of the Department of Social Relations of Johns Hopkins University, received his Ph. D. degree from Columbia University. Dr. Rossi has written several books and numerous articles concerning sociology and social problems of today. The topic, "The Establishment and All That," is being discussed by Dr. Rossi because of his knowledge of the theory and practice of community groups and because of his interest in social structure, public opinion, and policies in the local community.

MR. WALTER CRONKITE, CBS News Correspondent, is managing editor and anchor man of the CBS EVENING NEWS. Mr. Cronkite is also reporter of "The 21st Century," a CBS News series on the world of tomorrow. He was the reporter on the award-winning "The Twentieth Century" series for nine years. Mr. Cronkite has received numerous awards for his achievements in journalism. He was chosen to participate in the Symposium on the basis of his longstanding interest and expertise in the area of the new technology.

DR. RALPH E. BERRY received his Ph. D. in economics from Harvard University in 1966 with special training in economic theory, public finance, and the economics of health and welfare. Currently, he is Assistant Professor of the Harvard University Department of Economics. He currently serves as consultant to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and the Bureau of the Budget. Dr. Berry was chosen to participate in the Symposium because of his present research on the efficiency in the Production of Hospital Services.