¹ Total U.S. investment as it appears in col. 2 includes the total U.S. expenditure for construction and improvement at the installations, encompassing not only the related personal property but also all brick and mortar, i.e., buildings, airstrips, hardstands, parking areas, etc. Therefore, this figure is not related to the remaining columns except to provide the magnitude of the U.S. investment. It is this brick and mortar that will be the subject of future negotiations with the Government of France for residual value.

Mr. MONAGAN. You stated the French are interested in a certain number. Have they stated they are not interested in the remaining number?

Colonel REGAN. Yes. We have asked the French to list those bases in which they have an interest. They have given us those. We have asked, "If you have no interest in the others, please tell us."

What we have found out—for example these additional two that came in yesterday—we have found as we progress along they find someone interested in U.S. property on a facility, and this may fluctuate.

Mr. MONAGAN. There is nothing up in the air so far as you are concerned in the fact the French are interested in some and not interested in others in the total number involved?
