interstate commerce, and this regulation, of course, is reflected in the intrastate price charged for gas. [Chart 28.]

In the gulf coast area, oil is expected to get the larger share of the growth, and there are various reasons for this, but the most important is the use of oil as a petrochemical substance. Gas would get the next largest share. [Chart 29.]

In the Rocky Mountain region, gas would get most of the growth that we can foresee there, a little bit going to oil as shown on chart 30.
