

On the west coast it is natural gas across the board as the dominant fuel in all of these three markets and selling at prices at which oil cannot effectively compete. [Chart 58.]

For the Nation as a whole in the industrial-commercial market, representing 39 percent of the total energy market, gas is the dominant fuel and deliveries for the average price of $2.10 a barrel. [Chart 59.]

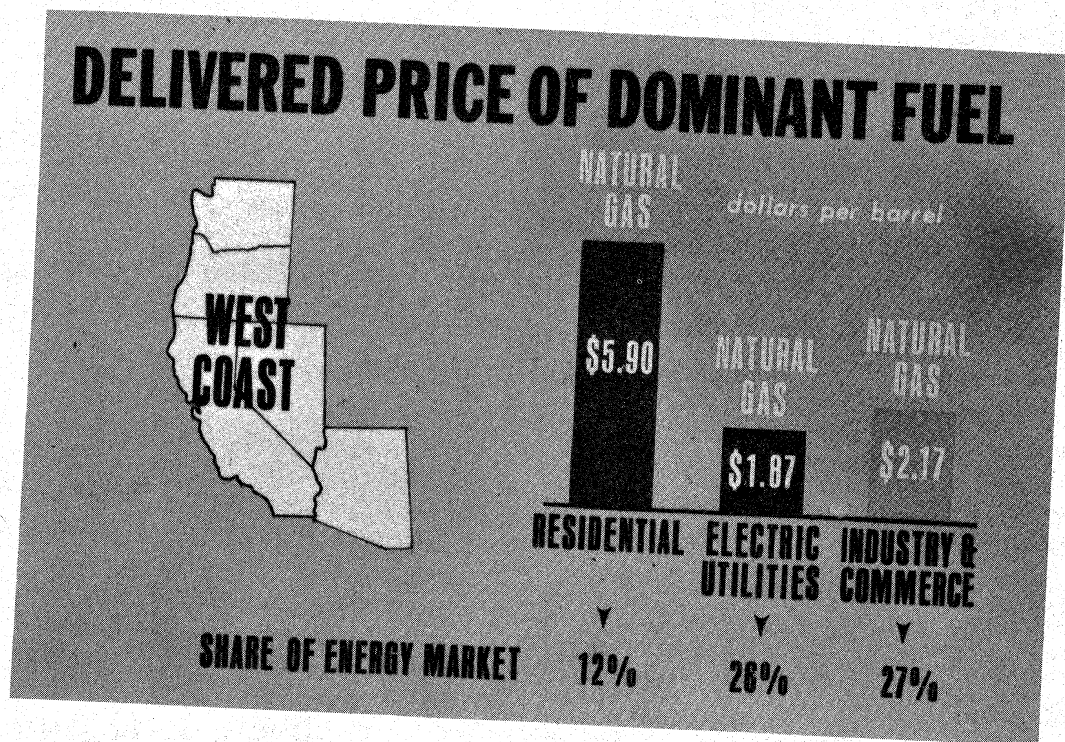

CHART 58

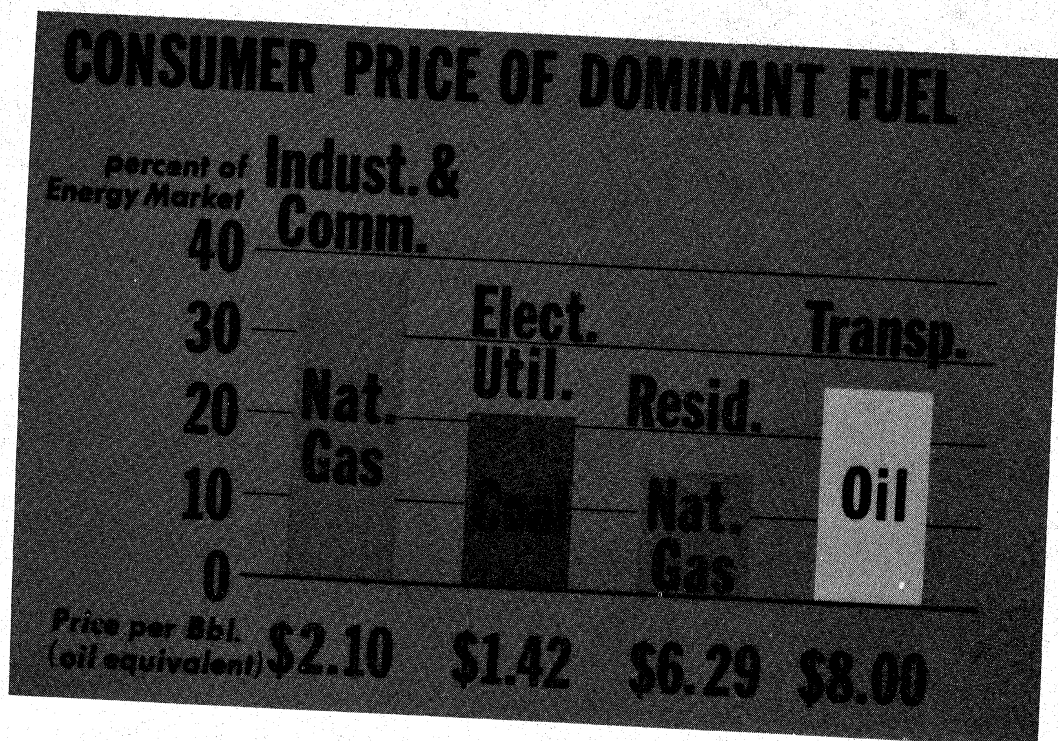

CHART 59