

ergies to the foundation and gain the knowledge necessary to function properly. Here is a list of published literature which may be of some help in some situations to those of you who are learning foundation management for the first time.

Include the standard bibliography of foundation management material. Exclude all references to legal form material. Distribute EXHIBIT #27

Conduct Foundation Management Exercise EXHIBIT #28.

Conduct Foundation Examination before proceeding to Section 10.

Your foundation may provide you with a great many benefits at the same time that it is benefiting mankind. You will be able to accomplish personal philanthropic desires, employ your energies most efficiently and generally save money. But the foundation is not the sole answer to an individual's economic problems. There are several shortcomings to total dependence upon foundations for the structuring of your personal estate. Foundations are potentially subject to restrictive government scrutiny and in some states, to government management. All property owned by the foundation and all income received by the foundation is technically devoted to public purposes.