

strength of that connection, you see. And all our highways in New York City are deficient in this way.

Now this is a picture I took 8 months prior to an accident. I saw someone was chipping away on this thing already.

Here is the same scene. Three people died here.

Four days later, another person died here, in the exact location. They failed to do anything about the situation, so I wrote a letter to our Governor pointing out the deficiency.
