

If we hit one of these, this is about what will happen—depending on the speed.

I am talking about brand new work. Here you see four of these trees on the left have been knocked down already and three on the right. If the others survive, they are going to be the killers of tomorrow. Also these trees cost a lot of money.

