

being maintained. The point is if we have railings they should serve a purpose.

Here you see a chicken fence to keep cars from going through. This happens to be a railroad track and some car went right through that fence.

