

it was laying in the center of the street and I wanted to bring the thought to the attention of this committee. If it is laying in the center of the street, if some kid kicks it, it is going to slide right under there and may drop on a car anyway. We put the fence there but did not bring it down to the ground. There are many places where we did a half job.

Here are two shots on Interstate highway where we failed to provide fencing or any curbing ledge below the rail. We have to get to these places and fence them before something serious happens.
