

This shows the urgency where these guardrails are needed. The maintenance people are getting mad. They are knocking down the posts before they can install the guardrail.

