

Now, I am just going to back up for this one slide, to show you where we will be next. This top lane is the westbound lane of 495. We are looking north. This right lane is 495 to the east, and we have already been on 270 to the north.

We are now going to discuss this section of the road up here. On the aerial photograph we are going to start about this area here [indicating on aerial photograph], which is Greentree Road, and come around this curve to where I-495 meets I-270 coming down from Rockville and Frederick, Md.

This first photograph, taken just east of Greentree Road, shows Greentree Road overpassing the beltway. This is westbound. This is an area of three traffic lanes, with 12-foot shoulder. The design speed
