

This is Ohio, again standard practice not to block out. Here you see a round post and this bulbous section on the end.

A post here also mounted rather low and in the case here, no washers are used on the head of the bolt. It does not show too well on the picture, but that is true.

