

There is evidence this has been struck in this area, with the chipping away in the concrete at that point, very similar to the other pictures we saw.

Here, too, is evidence that people do not always stay on the traveled way. This is a structure making a connection from Interstate 15 to Interstate 80, Salt Lake City being in this area.

