

This is something we will be discussing a little later as we get to consideration of shoulders and curbs, but here the shoulder is cut off in order to permit this advanced roadway to come onto the main line, and the light pole is mounted at the end of the shoulder. You cannot continue through there without having to take down that light pole. Frangible or not, I think most of us would rather not hit it.

Mr. CONSTANDY. I think in the preceding view you had a similar situation, did you not?

Mr. PRISK. Yes.
