

Now moving to Ohio, and taking a quick look at I-71, which is not the project that we selected but the one recently completed, we find poles mounted again very close to the edge of the pavement.

