

Here then is the exit direction sign, just ahead of the interchange. You will notice a rather abrupt deceleration lane, perhaps too short, particularly in this kind of open country; but, in any event, this is the signing that we find there.

Then if you move off to the side road, you find this rather surprising sign which, after you have read Kalispell is 2 miles and 1 mile, you get on the side road and you find it is 114 miles. This is a bit of a surprise.
