

Mr. CONSTANDY. We were strangers in that area, and we thought we would go to Kalispell for cigarettes, coffee, film; so we were looking forward, as we began to see this sequence of signs, to stopping shortly.

I was about ready to pull off the road into Kalispell, and we were amazed to see we had 114 miles yet to go.

It is also interesting to point out that, on the side road, the sign telling where Kalispell is, is mounted on small posts.

Mr. PRISK. I think this ought to come under the heading of sign messages, which will be discussed at a later time.

Here you notice they do use wood posts on this side road mounting.
