

Mr. CONSTANDY. I think it is worth pointing out, too, that the exit here is also closed, although none of the signs in advance have reflected that.

Mr. PRISK. That is true.

We move along here close to the terminal of the project. You see another series of signposts erected on the right-hand side, ready for installation. The truck is turning off on the ramp which in fact does carry the traffic from this point on farther north.
