

adjustment longitudinally, which many times is the more desirable thing to do; but this could be easily moved out here and be readily visible.

The driver's eyes are in clear focus for straight ahead vision about 5° either side of looking straight ahead, so within 5° —the 5-degree visual angle—there is no difficulty in getting the sign slightly away from the roadway.

Here is a shot of a smaller sign, also taken under adverse conditions, not protected.

Here is another sign, "Emergency parking only," perhaps of a class that ought to be looked at again in terms of its necessity.
