

On the roadside slopes are moderately good, but you find conditions of this sort where water is dammed up.

And you have, although with a fairly good slope here, quite a pond at the bottom. When these are wet, without being properly covered with vegetation, this becomes very hazardous to negotiate.

