

Mr. BARNHILL. Well, yes.

Dr. WEINBERGER. Most of your test procedures for assessing the long-range effect on fish and aquatic life, these testing procedures were developed by biologists at our laboratories. Many of these toxicity tests were developed on the procedure—

Mr. FELTON. No, I mean is industry now voluntarily submitting its products to you for assessment.

Mr. BARNHILL. No.

Dr. WEINBERGER. No.

Mr. CARPENTER. That is it.

Mr. FELTON. Gentlemen, once again we thank you.

(Whereupon, at 3:35 p.m., the committee recessed, subject to call.)
