

ISSUES IN FUTURE FINANCING OF SOCIAL SECURITY

BY GEORGE A. BISHOP*

CONTENTS

	Page
Foreword
I. Introduction and Summary	22
II. Expansion of Social Insurance, Future Costs, and Limits to Payroll Taxation	29
Growth of social insurance in the United States	30
Probable future costs	34
Population projections	34
Official cost and benefit estimates	36
Limits to payroll tax financing	39
III. Financing Principles in Social Insurance	41
Shifts in financing principles for OASDI	41
The concept of "actuarial soundness"	45
IV. Major Alternatives in Financing Social Insurance	46
Maintaining the present balance of objectives	47
Providing a general revenue contribution	49
Modifying the payroll tax	50
Separating welfare and insurance elements	51
V. Possibilities and Problems in a Two-Tier System	52
The Canadian system	52
Meaning of "Social insurance"	53
Justification for a wage-related, contributory system	54
Redistribution in OASDI	56
Complexity	58
Welfare versus insurance cost	59
Economic effects	60
Coordination with other public policies relating to the aged	61
Appendix:
A Diagrammatic Analysis of Social Insurance Taxation for Retirement Benefits	63

TABLES AND CHARTS

Table:
1. OASDHI tax rates and maximum tax base under existing law and under Administration's proposals of January 1967, 1967 actual, 1968-74 scheduled or proposed	22
2. Maximum tax base; combined tax rate and maximum tax on employer and employee for OASDHI, 1937-67 actual, 1968-87 scheduled	30
3. Major changes in coverage under OASDI, 1935-66	32
4. Projections of the U.S. population by broad age groups, 1965-2050	36
5. Joint economic committee staff projections GNP, social insurance contributions and benefits, and total Government receipts and expenditures, 1965 actual, and 1975 projected	38
Chart:
1. Average maximum, and minimum old age benefits and employee contributions in constant dollars, 1940-66	31
2. OASDI trust fund receipts, expenditures, and assets, 1937-68	33
3. Growth in population, United States and key European countries, 1965-80	35

*Director, Federal Affairs Research, Tax Foundation Inc., New York.

NOTE: The views expressed in this paper are the author's and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Tax Foundation.