

Exhibit 4—Attachment 2

Du Pont United States exports to United Kingdom—1967—Products unaffected by the supplemental agreement

Product	Reason
Manmade fibers:
Nylon -----	Ex agreement.
Polyester -----	Do.
Synthetic rubbers:
Neoprene -----	Do.
Fluoroelastomers -----	No concession.
Chlorosulfonated polyethylene -----	Do.
Urethane -----	Do.
Plastic materials:
Polyethylene resins -----	Do.
Filaments and strapping -----	Do.
Nylon resins -----	Do.
Polyvinyl butyral interlayer -----	Do.
Ethylene vinyl acetate copolymers -----	Do.
Acrylic resins -----	Do.
Acetal resins -----	Do.
Industrial films:
Polyester -----	Do.
Cellophane -----	Do.
Color materials:
Dyes -----	Do.
Pigment colors -----	Do.
Coated fabrics -----	Ex agreement.
Grand total -----	$6.7 million.

Exhibit 4—Attachment 3

UNITED KINGDOM—PLASTICS, RESINS, AND FILMS FOR WHICH DU PONT SUBMITTED BRIEFS TO THE OSR ASKING FOR REDUCED DUTY RATES IN THE UNITED KINGDOM

[In percent]

Product	Present duty rate	Kennedy round rate	ASP rate
Resins:
Acetal -----	10	10	10
Ethylene/vinyl acetate copolymers -----	10	10	10
Fluorocarbon -----	10	10	9
Ethylenic ionomer -----	10	10	10
Polyolefinic -----	10	10	10
Films and sheeting:
Polyester -----	10	10	10
Polyimide -----	10	10	10
Polyvinyl fluoride -----	10	10	10
Polyvinyl butyral -----	10	10	10
Fluorocarbon films and tubing -----	10	10	10

The CHAIRMAN. Dr. Dawson, we thank you for your statement and bringing to us your viewpoint. Are there are questions of Dr. Dawson? If not, we thank you, all of you.

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. May, we agreed to give you 7 minutes. If you will identify yourself, we will be glad to recognize you.