RESOLUTION

We, the undersigned Ministers of Agriculture of Latin America, convened in the City of Miami, State of Florida, have unanimously agreed to give the Honorable Doyle Conner, Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of Florida, our vote of confidence for his initiative and foresight in convoking the first Conference of Latin American Ministers of Agriculture, which climaxed in the signing of a document entitled, "AGRICULTURAL DECLARATION OF MIAMI". This document is a significant step toward strengthening friendship and cooperation between the countries of Latin America and the United States in general, and the State of Florida in particular.

The results of our meeting will have beneficial repercussions in the American Continents.

THEREFORE, we, the Ministers of Agriculture of Latin America attending the Conference, have unanimously approved the foregoing resolution and in witness thereof set our hands and seals this 14th day of September, of the year 1966, at Miami, Florida.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Ministers of Agriculture of the following countries, to wit: Bolivia, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Peru and Venezuela; and the Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of Florida; have agreed on the following recommendations:

All of the Latin American Governments, the State of Florida and the United States should give their full cooperation to:

1. Motivate, actuate, support and promote the agriculture of this hemisphere;
2. Cooperate and support development projects, including concrete action in the fields of: Technical Training, Research, Extension and credit, among others, enlisting for this purposes all financial and technical assistance available;
3. Support and carry out appropriate programs in those countries where economic and social planification dictate the need and urgency to encourage and promote the broadened individual ownership of agricultural land.
4. Study and adopt, with due diligence, measures and actions which tend to improve and organize the commercialization and industrialization of agriculture in Latin America.

SENATE MEMORIAL NO. 1094.—A MEMORIAL TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES
TO PROVIDE FOR PROTECTIVE TARIFFS ON IMPORTED AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS

Whereas the government of the United States has established as national policy that poverty within this nation shall be eliminated, that every citizen is entitled to a decent and respectable standard of living and each worker entitled to a minimum wage in excess of that earned by the citizens of any other nation; and

Whereas the United States, the world's greatest agricultural nation, depends heavily upon agricultural laborers to produce the necessary food and fiber for
