

EXHIBIT IV

DATA ON NLN REASONABLE ASSURANCE OF ACCREDITATION UNDER NURSE TRAINING ACT OF 1964

[From the beginning of the Nurse Training Act (Public Law 88-581) to Jan. 1, 1968, 314 nursing education programs sought reasonable assurance of accreditation from the National League for Nursing; 256 (82 percent) of these received reasonable assurance]

	Total	Baccalaureate and master's	Associate degree	Diploma
Number of programs which applied for reasonable assurance.....	314	63	146	105
Number of programs granted reasonable assurance.....	256	46	132	78
Number of programs denied reasonable assurance.....	58	17	14	27
Number of programs granted full accreditation following initial receipt of reasonable assurance.....	104	17	36	51
Number of programs for reasonable assurance scheduled for accreditation visits in 1968.....	41	9	25	7
Number of programs denied accreditation after receipt of reasonable assurance.....	13	1	1	11

¹ Includes 3 associate degree programs considered equivalent under special procedures for determining eligibility for Federal funds.

Source: National League for Nursing Departments of Associate Degree Programs, Baccalaureate and Higher Degree Programs, and Diploma Programs.