

“One of the greatest obstacles to the improvement and expansion of public assistance and public welfare is the lack of understanding and support among community leaders and informed citizens. Many citizens who are otherwise interested in educational, charitable and civic matters simply turn their backs on public assistance . . .”