

had to have all my locks at home changed, my family were in a dreadful fear that they would notice or know my address, knew all about me from the cards that were in my wallet.

And then 7 weeks later, the same night of the week, Friday, on this new shuttle system where we park our cars here, I happened to be parked at this one, I was on this bus at 1st and G Street, I happened to look out of the window and five or six young fellows, one of them looked 13 years old, and I saw him going through these motions as if he was throwing something and I thought, "Oh, no," then I found this object which was a beer bottle hit me in the face. The glass shattered and the man who worked with me in a bindery, his eye was injured by glass and he couldn't raise his eye for fear of damaging the eye more, and the nurse at GPO took the slivers out of my face and I continued to work.

But as the night went on my left eye started to bother me and a slight irritation, and when I got home I ate and I went to the Suburban Hospital and asked for them to look at my eye, my eye doctor doesn't—his office, he doesn't have offices on Saturday so this man, this doctor looked at my eye and he said there had been a piece of glass there because the eyeball of my eye was scratched, so I had to wear a bandage for two days and now I am afraid to walk across the street.

When I come down to the District I roll up my windows, when I approach the red light I watch there is no one in front of me or someone in back of me, so if one puts a gun behind me I can get away fast. When I park my car, I happen to have a private, I got to a private parking lot four days a week because it is an inconvenience to me in the morning parking over here because I have got to go through town and I want to get home to get my daughter to summer school so I use this private lot, and there have been incidents there, but there is a little more personal safety there, but still you have to watch.

When you pull in there you have got, we all look to see if there is someone behind us and someone in front of us, so the worse they can do is steal your tire or take your wheels off or break a window and go through the inside of your car.

Excuse me, that is all I have got to say on it.

Mr. DOWDY. Thank you.

Mr. MACHEN. There never has been any apprehension of any of these people who molested you all?

Mr. URBAN. Pardon?

Mr. MACHEN. There never has been any arrest or apprehension?

Mr. URBAN. No, there wasn't. The detective came to my home the next evening, he had a briefcase and I think he had three albums but I couldn't identify any of the pictures. But I did see the one man who when I stopped short and faced him I could identify him immediately but I don't think his picture was in any of those albums.

Mr. MACHEN. You think your officials are being hysterical when they complain about the crime rate in the District?

Mr. URBAN. My immediate officials were very much concerned and I would say my officials were immediately concerned and I think other people in the Government Printing Office are concerned where I work and I think this arrangement where the people park over here are the best arrangements now. But like Mr. Hines said before it looks as if we are backing away. We should get at the source of this trouble.
