

appeals shall serve, by registered or certified mail, a true copy of the petition upon the Commission and the Attorney General of the United States.

“(ii) Unless the proceeding has been terminated following grant of a motion to dismiss the petition, the Commission shall file in the office of the clerk of the court of appeals in which the proceeding is pending the record on review, as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code. Until such record has been filed by the Commission, the Commission may at any time, upon such notice and in such manner as it shall deem proper, modify or set aside, in whole or in part, any order, report, or decision made or issued by it and which is attached in a petition for review. Upon the filing of such record with it, the jurisdiction of the court of appeals to enjoin, set aside, annul, or suspend orders of the Commission shall be exclusive.

“(d) Petitions to review orders reviewable under this section, unless determined on a motion to dismiss the petition, shall be heard in the court of appeals upon the record of the pleadings, evidence adduced, and proceedings before the Commission. If a party to a proceeding to review shall apply to the court of appeals, in which the proceeding is pending, for leave to adduce additional evidence and shall show to the satisfaction of such court (1) that such additional evidence is material, and (2) that there were reasonable grounds for failure to adduce such evidence before the Commission, such court may order such additional evidence and any evidence the opposite party desires to offer to be taken by the Commission. The Commission may modify its findings of fact, or make new findings, by reason of the additional evidence so taken and may modify or set aside its orders and shall file in the court such additional evidence, such modified findings or new findings, and such modified order or the order setting aside the original order.

“(e) The Commission may be represented by its own counsel, and the United States, through the Attorney General, shall be entitled to intervene in any proceeding. Any party or parties in interest in the proceeding before the Commission whose interests will be affected if an order of the Commission is or is not enjoined, set aside, or suspended, may appear as parties of their own motion and as of right, and be represented by counsel in any proceeding to review such order. Communities, associations, corporations, firms, and individuals whose interests are affected by the Commission's order may intervene in any proceeding to review such order.

“(f) The filing of the petition to review shall not of itself stay or suspend the operations of the order of the Commission, but the court of appeals in its discretion may restrain or suspend, in whole or in part, the operation of the order pending the final hearing and determination of the petition. Where the petitioner makes application for an interlocutory injunction suspending or restraining the enforcement, operation, or execution of, or setting aside, in whole or in part, any order reviewable under this section, at least five days' notice of the hearing thereon shall be given to the Commission and to the Attorney General of the United States. In cases where irreparable damage would otherwise ensue to the petitioner, the court of appeals may, on hearing, after reasonable notice to the Commission and to the Attorney General, order a temporary stay or suspension, in whole or in part, of the operation of the order of the Commission for not more than sixty days from the date of such order pending the hearing on the application for such interlocutory injunction, in which case such order of the court of appeals shall contain a specific findings, based on evidence submitted to the court of appeals, and identified by reference thereto, that such irreparable damage would result to the petitioner and specifying the nature of such damage. The court of appeals, at the time of hearing the application for an interlocutory injunction, upon a like finding, may continue the temporary stay or suspension, in whole or in part, until decision on the application. The hearing upon such an application for an interlocutory injunction shall be given preference and expedited and shall be heard at the earliest practicable date after the expiration of the notice of hearing on the application provided for above. Upon the final hearing of any proceeding to review any order under the provisions of this subsection the same requirements as to precedence and expedition shall apply.

“(g) An order granting or denying an interlocutory injunction under paragraph (f) of this subsection and a final judgment of the court of appeals shall be subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States upon writ of certiorari as provided in section 1254(1) of title 28, United States Code: Provided, That application therefor be duly made within forty-five days after the entry of such order and within ninety days after entry of the judgment, as the case may
