(b) The lands held in trust pursuant to this section shall be a part of the Pueblo de Taos Reservation, and shall be administered under the laws and regulations applicable to other trust Indian lands: Provided, That the Pueblo de Taos Indians shall use the lands for traditional purposes only, such as religious ceremonies, hunting and fishing, a source of water, forage for their domestic livestock, and wood, timber, and other natural resources for their personal use, all subject to such regulations for conservation purposes as the Secretary of Agriculture may prescribe. Except for such uses, the lands shall remain forever wild and shall be maintained as a wilderness as defined in section 2(c) of the Act of September 3, 1964 (78 Stat. 890). With the consent of the tribe, but not otherwise, non-members of the tribe may be permitted to enter the lands for purposes compatible with their preservation as a wilderness. The Secretary of the Interior shall be responsible for the establishment and maintenance of conservation measures for these lands, including, without limitation, protection of forests from fire, disease, insects or trespass, prevention or elimination of erosion, damaging land use, or stream pollution, and maintenance of stream flow and sanitary conditions, and is authorized to contract with the Secretary of Agriculture for any services or materials deemed necessary to institute or carry out any such measures.

(c) Those lands described in subsection (a) which are not included in the lands described in the Act of May 31, 1933, shall be held under this section subject to existing rights owned or held by non-Indians by lease or otherwise. Lessees or permittees in said land shall have the right to renew such leases or permits under the rules and regulations of the Forest Service to the same extent and in the same manner as they had prior to the enactment of this Act; but the Pueblo de Taos shall have the right to obtain the relinquishment of any and all such lease or permit interests from the lessees or permittees under such terms and conditions as may be
