Re: Urban League, et al. v. Carteret, et al.

Dear Mr. Pidgeon:

Enclosed please find the Civic League's response to Plainsboro's proposal to modify the Consent Judgment. As you will note, the Civic League is willing to make significant compromises, particularly with regard to the fair share number. This is contingent, however, upon construction of said units within the two-year period set forth in the current settlement.

We have been advised by Alan Mallach that in his view, no meaningful filtering is likely to take place in Plainsboro in the foreseeable future. Moreover, we have been informed that there may well be a readjustment of Plainsboro's fair share by the Council in response to Princeton's demand for recalculation. We have been advised that Princeton's zip code, the basis for the Council's fair share determination, arguably encompasses part of Plainsboro.

For purposes of settlement, as you will recall, the Civic League agreed to a fair share number based on Plainsboro's zip code area. Reopening the Consent Order, which the Civic League still considers more than fair to Plainsboro, will probably result in reopening this issue. As we discussed, the North Brunswick Town Council recently voted against seeking to renege on its settlement. Old Bridge, too, has apparently reconsidered its earlier decision to attempt to reopen its settlement.

While there may be minor modifications with respect to the various elements of the Civic League's counter-proposal, the major concessions already made essentially represent plaintiffs' final position. We are hopeful that agreement can be reached within these parameters so that both parties may avoid the expense and the risks of further litigation. As set forth in the enclosed article from The Record dated September 14, 1986, the Appellate Division recently denied Mahwah's motion to vacate its Consent Judgment and transfer to the Council. As you will note, Mahwah remains obligated to provide the agreed upon 694 units, despite the Council's fair share number of 296.

Naturally, this letter is submitted solely for purposes of settlement and shall not be used in any litigation.

Very truly yours,

encls
